(https://americantaxpolicyinstitute.org/)

American Tax Policy Institute (https://americantaxpolicyinstitute.org/)

Promoting and Facilitating Scholarly Research

ATPI supports nonpartisan scholarly research, analysis and discussion of U.S. federal, state and local, and international tax policy issues.

ATPI WEBINAR: TAX, RACE, AND REPARATIONS: RECKONING WITH HISTORY, RETHINKING THE FUTURE

March 6, 2026 at 12:00–1:15 PM Eastern Time

Join the American Tax Policy Institute for a timely conversation with three leading scholars whose groundbreaking books challenge the ways tax law has reflected and reinforced racial injustice—historically, domestically, and globally. From colonial America's use of taxation to entrench slavery, to the racialized architecture of the international tax system, to a bold new legal strategy for achieving reparations in the United States, this book-centered discussion will explore how law and policy have long been tools of inequality and how they might be reclaimed for justice.
Each author will present key insights from their recent or forthcoming work, followed by a moderated discussion and audience Q&A. This interdisciplinary dialogue will be of interest to scholars, policymakers, students, and anyone engaged in conversations about racial equity, structural reform, and the future of tax justice.

Learn More (https://americantaxpolicyinstitute.org/webinar-reparations-20260306/)

ATPI ANNUAL ENGAGEMENT REPORT

The American Tax Policy Institute is a section 501(c)(3) organization whose Trustees and members are leading experts on taxation from the fields of law, accounting and economics. ATPI is a nonpartisan organization that promotes and facilitates scholarly research, analysis, examination and discussion of tax policy proposals and issues in order to improve the tax system and assist governmental authorities in tax administration. ATPI supports scholarship in law, accounting, and economics to aid policy makers and administrators and improve the tax system.
ATPI provides support through financial and programmatic assistance for roundtable discussions and conferences on tax policy issues.

Read our Annual Engagement Report (https://americantaxpolicyinstitute.org/wp-content/uploads/2025/11/atpi_annual_2023-2025.pdf)

ATPI WEBINAR: REWRITING THE RULES: ENVIRONMENTAL TAX POLICY IN A SHIFTING LEGAL LANDSCAPE

Held on September 8, 2025. As governments reevaluate their commitments to climate mitigation and fiscal policy priorities shift, the legal and practical contours of environmental tax law are rapidly changing. This webinar examined the implications of recent federal legislative developments, including the enactment of the "One Big Beautiful Bill," for environmental tax policy and clean energy investment. In this non-partisan webinar, experts from law, accounting, and policy discussed the rollback of tax-based incentives for climate action, evolving requirements for project qualification, and the uncertain future of energy-related tax credits. The panel also considered how state and local governments, nonprofit actors, and the private sector are responding to these changes—and how these developments may shape the future use of tax policy to address environmental and economic priorities.

View the Recording or View the Slidedeck (https://americantaxpolicyinstitute.org/webcasts/)

Papers are published in the Pace Environmental Law Review: Click here (https://americantaxpolicyinstitute.org/tax-and-environment-symposium/)

Contribute (https://americantaxpolicyinstitute.org/be-a-part-of-atpi/)

Sponsors and Patrons are recognized on the Institute's web site and receive special invitations to conferences and roundtables.

Learn More (https://americantaxpolicyinstitute.org/be-a-part-of-atpi/)

Sponsors (https://americantaxpolicyinstitute.org/be-a-part-of-atpi/)

The Institute receives significant support from the American College of Tax Counsel (ACTC).

Learn More (https://americantaxpolicyinstitute.org/be-a-part-of-atpi/)

Since 1993

Promoting and Facilitating Scholarly Research, Analysis, Examination...

The American Tax Policy Institute is a section 501(c)(3) organization whose Trustees and members are some of the leading experts on taxation from the fields of law, accounting and economics. ATPI is a nonpartisan organization that promotes and facilitates scholarly research, analysis, examination, discussion of tax policy proposals and issues, in order to improve the tax system, and to provide assistance to governmental authorities involved in tax administration. ATPI supports scholarship in law, accounting and economics that will aid policy makers and administrators and improve our tax system.

ATPI provides support through financial and development assistance for roundtable discussions and conferences on tax policy issues.

For information on how to submit proposals for ATPI support, please contact us. (https://americantaxpolicyinstitute.org/contact/)

Mission

The mission of ATPI is to bring together lawyers, economists, accountants, and others who make or implement tax policy in order to analyze tax systems, explore possible improvements to them, and promote understanding of their impact on society.

CONTACT US

Email
info@americantaxpolicyinstitute.org (mailto:info@americantaxpolicyinstitute.org)

Phone
866-560-3838

Address
American Tax Policy Institute
2604 Elmwood Avenue, #350
Rochester, NY 14618

Copyright © 2017 American Tax Policy Institute — Lyrical WordPress theme by GoDaddy (https://www.godaddy.com/)